LONDON, Oct. 28.—The probable date of the next general election, when the people will have an opportunity of again choosing between Toryism and Liberalism, is a matter of the greatest importance. A short time ago the preponderance of opinion was that a new election would be held within a year. This belief was based on the somewhat remarkable series of successes on the part of the Liberals in the "By-elections" to fill occasional vacancies in the House of Commons. But of late there has been a perceptible check to the tide of Liberal victory. It is not so much the defeat in the Brighton election as the change in public feeling indicated in less obvious ways, that has put a damper upon the bright hopes of the Liberal party.

DR. MASON'S SUITS. A prominent New York physician's charges against his wife.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Dr. Sumner A. Mason of 123 West One Hundred and Twenty-seventh street, who was an inmate of an Italian lunatic asylum a year ago last summer, has brought three suits against his wife, by which he seeks to recover a large amount of property, which he says has been wrongfully appropriated by her. He is separated from his wife now, but the basis of all the suits lies in the allegation that while they were living together in Genoa in 1886, she got him into the lunatic asylum by conspiracy and kidnapping him. By one suit in the Superior Court he seeks to recover a mortgage on the household property which used to be in their home in Fifty-ninth street. Another in the same court is to recover $1,000, which he claims she took for her own use when he intended to pay the interest on the mortgage on the house with it, and that in consequence the house has since been sold on foreclosure. In the third suit he alleges that Foster L. Backus, ex-Assistant District Attorney of Kings county, who is now a counsel, holds a deed to Mr. Mason for a house on High street, Brooklyn. This house belongs to Mr. Mason, and he claims that Backus is suffering from sunstroke when his wife took him abroad, and soon after they reached Genoa was seized with a fever and died, not an Italian, but his wife did, and she.

THE DATE IS FAR REMOTE, and that the Liberal cause and affect the great issue, it will only be by stimulating the Government to undertake, from a feeling of alarm, measures which they are alike incompetent to frame or to carry forward with success. The misfortune of the allied parties will, for the present, it is thought, tend to draw them more closely together, in order to put off as long as possible the evil day when they must reckon with the whole people. A very notable member of Parliament said yesterday that this would be their present feeling and that it would certainly hold for the next session. In the next session he believed the dissident Liberals will accept anything or nothing as the programme of the Government. But then will follow the time of more precise prospects and of statements such as that to which Mr. Gladstone looks forward, and then the breaking up of the majority may be expected. This coincidence of view with a view which Mr. Farnell expressed in conversation lately, that next session will be the most critical for the Government in regard to the demand for Irish policy and that of the succeeding year will prove decisive and probably fatal.

BATTLE WITH A SHARK. The Thrilling Experience of a Canadian at Equinault Harbor.

OTTAWA, Ontario, Oct. 28.—Mr. James Potts, formerly of this city, in writing to a friend here, sends the following account of his thrilling experience at Equinault Harbor, British Columbia. He says:

"At about 6 o'clock on Friday morning, while standing on the edge of a lighter I observed a large shark approaching, and as it swam alongside I threw an ax at it, hitting it in the back and inflicting a deep wound. In its blind fury, lashing about with pain, it dashed itself upon the beach and lay on its back. I ran to the spot, and as I ran to where the huge fish was struggling, the shark had reached the spot, however, the shark had got about again. Armed with an ax I waded into the water, and I drove the ax with my whole strength into its head. The second blow caused the shark to retire a short distance, but it returned with a vengeance, and as it swam up to me, I threw the ax again, hitting it in the head. I then ran to the shore, and as I ran to where the shark was struggling, the shark had reached the spot, however, the shark had got about again. Armed with an ax I waded into the water, and I drove the ax with my whole strength into its head. The second blow caused the shark to retire a short distance, but it returned with a vengeance, and as it swam up to me, I threw the ax again, hitting it in the head. Weather forecast for twenty-four hours, commencing at 8 a. m. to-day, for Missouri: Fair; warmer; southeasterly winds.

The dust-raising nuisance must be abolished.

The citizens of St. Louis should be protected from the assaults of the Broom Brigade.

The usual "scoop" and the usual superiority over all competitors were unusually prominent in yesterday's SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH.

ALL St. Louisans unite in extending a cordial welcome to the Pan-American delegates. St. Louis belongs to them during their visit.

Breathing the flying filth of stores and sidewalks is not a good preparation for a day's work, and citizens should be relieved from the necessity of doing so by the city authorities.

The rumor that Private Secretary HAZWOOD has resigned is denied, but it is not denied that serving as a buffer between the President and the howling mob of office-seekers has broken down his health.

The New York WORLD should supplement its prize for the best World's Fair idea with a prize for the biggest World's Fair subscription. Some millionaire might be induced to give something if the prize were big enough.

The "tin spelling book" enables a party worker to direct an illiterate voter how to vote under the Australian ballot system, but it does not enable him to see that he votes his way. The chief advantage of the Australian system is that it secures secrecy and thus encourages independence in voting.

BARON REUTER and the other partners in the great Persian Bank monopoly are not so proud of their big bonanza as they were when they first obtained the concession from the Shah. Since his return home he has concluded that if a monopoly is a good thing it cannot be granted to too many companies, and so he has conferred the same privileges on a Russian company and stands ready to consider other applicants' offers.

WHILE the crops have been fine in nearly every part of the country the Dakota farmers have been unable to raise anything on account of drought. An appeal has been sent out in their behalf. They must suffer terrible hardships from cold and hunger the coming winter unless they are relieved. The fact that the Dakotas have just been admitted to the sisterhood of States should be a stimulus additional to humane generosity to give them liberal aid.

EX-PRESIDENT CLEVELAND changed his residence in New York just at the right time to deprive himself of a vote. Mr. CLEVELAND in forming his plans may not have had this object in view, but from a policy standpoint it was an excellent move. It transpires that the inspectors of election in his former district had arranged to mark the ex-President's ticket, and it might have been awkward to have it figure in the next campaign for the presidential nomination.

The guests we welcome to-day are entitled to more consideration than they would be if they were among them all the crowns in Europe. They represent the young Republic of the New World, a civilized population of 46,000,000 souls, a foreign commerce of $775,000,000, and an area of 1,769,144 square miles of infinite resources, destined to be soon the seat of a population and of a civilization superior to those of Europe. They represent the founders of new nations, Republics like our own, the builders of the New World that is to be, and as such St. Louis gives them a warmer welcome than the people of this country would ever extend to an equal number of the most famous kings or conquerors the Old World ever produced.

AWAY WITH THE DUST. The greatest part of the dirt and dust nuisance has been abated by municipal street sweeping and sprinkling, but a remnant remains. It exists in the custom of sweeping stores and sidewalks at hours when the streets are crowded with pedestrians and when the filth must remain in the gutters during nearly the entire day.

It is a most unwholesome and unpleasant custom. The time usually selected for this work is early in the morning when people are going to their daily occupations, and it compels them to dodge brooms, sprinkling-cans and sweepers, and to pass through blinding and choking clouds of filthy dust. The practice in great measure detracts from the magnificent results of municipal street sweeping and sprinkling, which have given St. Louis the cleanest streets of any city in the Union.

The only way to stop it is by means of a comprehensive and effective ordinance regulating the time and manner of sweeping sidewalks and houses. There is an ordinance at present forbidding the sweeping of the filth from houses on the sidewalks, but it contains no provision with reference to sidewalk sweeping nor with reference to the time of sweeping. This ordinance is insufficient and is practically a dead letter. The police pay no attention to it and the broom brigade assault the health and comfort of citizens without check.

Street Commissioner BURNETT says that with a proper ordinance on the subject the nuisance can be reduced to a minimum, by providing that the work be done at an hour when it will be least disturbing to the people and when the filth will be removed promptly by the street sweeping machines. This is a "consummation devoutly to be wished," and the Municipal Assembly should meet the wishes of the public by passing the desired ordinance at the earliest possible moment.

RECOGNIZED AS THE BEST. The demand for the SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH yesterday sent its circulation up several thousand copies, but while the increase was unusually great, it was only in the line of the steady, rapid growth which has marked every issue of the paper.

Yesterday's SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH was full of bright interest which was exclusive to itself. The history of the Hatzfeldt-Huntington engagement, with a full sketch of the disgraced career of Prince HATZFELDT was a feature of the paper scarcely touched by its competitors.

The story of the alleged conspiracy to deprive Engineer JOHN ROSS of his freedom by means of a certificate of insanity was an interesting piece of local news published only by the SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH. The description of the tin device adopted in Nashville to enable the negroes who cannot read to vote their party ticket was another exclusive and entertaining feature of the paper. The sketches and portraits of this season's society "buds" was of especial interest to St. Louisans.

The telegraphic and cable news of the SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH were not duplicated in any other local newspaper. It printed more news than any of them. In its fiction, bright humor and special articles and racy correspondence the SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH did not share with any competitor.

This combination of originality and enterprise accounts for the popularity of the SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH in large measure. The public has come to recognize the fact that more news and better news, more original and exclusive features will be found in this paper than in any other; in a word, they recognize it as the best Sunday newspaper.

A WESTERN WOOING. Gay gallants inclined to trifle with female affections have had abundant warning that the practice of their favorite amusement is attended with something more than "a spice of danger" in Kansas—that in fact, it is about as dangerous fun in that State as stealing horses.

The fate of a St. Louis drummer and the prompt acquittal of his slayer recently failed to appal a certain bold Kansas City man, and now he has furnished a warning example compared with which coroners' inquests and funeral wrappings are but trifles in deterrent effect.

This bold, bad man won the affections of the postmaster's daughter and deputy at Hays City, and then sought to avoid matrimony by fleeing to a location near the State line in Kansas City, where he could skip to and fro across the line and laugh at the officers of the law. But what human power can evade the patient search and vigilant long of a Western girl bent on matrimony?

He was not only caught and taken back by the sheriff, but his own fleetness of foot and the sheriff's strategy alone enabled him to find temporary safety in jail when they reached Hays City. The would-be bride and a corps of her friends, all armed to the teeth, were waiting in the depot, and he would have been butchered to make a Kansas holiday if the sheriff had not sneaked him out at the far end of the train. As it was, Sheriff and prisoner were soon discovered making fast time for the jail. The avengers gave chase and opened fire as they ran, the fair heroine of the occasion far before the rest and firing more rapidly than anybody else. The recalcitrant lover, however, beat everybody to the jail and entered that haven of safety with so many flesh wounds in his person and bullet holes in his clothes that he straightway relented and was married to the determined girl as soon as license and preacher could be brought to the jail.

Lotharios who do not wish to be hunted into matrimony in this alarming way will hereafter be careful about going a wooing in Kansas for fun.

The Engineering and Building Record, giving the results of an investigation of its own into the whole subject of electric light wires, overhead and subway, in New York City, reaches the conclusion that "the overhead wires in their generally 'prevailing condition are a menace to 'human life; their burial in subways is 'the only really efficient way in which 'they can be made comparatively harmless; and their better protection—insulation, in other words—while still strung 'on poles, awaiting the completion of 'underground conduits, is imperatively 'demanded." Where a license has been granted to carry on a dangerous business in an extremely dangerous way, the mere fact that the authorities failed to realize the risks in advance is certainly no reason why the police power should not be energetically used to abate the danger and protect life. Hesitation or feeble action in such an emergency is almost identical with willful murder.

HERE at St. Louis the representatives of Spanish America will see the great city and commercial center of the grand Mississippi Valley, with its mighty river pouring its ceaseless floods over in the direction of their homes. They must see in that river route through the Gulf of Mexico to the ports of Mexico and Central and South America their natural line of cheap transportation to the center of North American commerce and production. As they wonder why it is not already bearing a rich commerce between our people and theirs, they will have the consolation of knowing that our "back number" tariff, the only obstruction, is doomed.

The case of Engineer JOHN ROSS, the story of whose incarceration on a certificate of insanity, issued by Dr. A. B. SHAW, was fully told in yesterday's SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH, is a remarkable one. Ross claims that he is the victim of a conspiracy on the part of his wife and her friends, while the latter claim that he is really insane. It is not at all remarkable, however, that the story should have been published exclusively in the SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH. It would be a remarkable occurrence for a week to pass without the SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH scooping all of its competitors.

Sealskins Should Be Cheaper. From the Philadelphia Record. The luxurious and fashionable dames who love to enfold their dainty limbs in rich furs ought to find sealskin coats much cheaper than usual this season. A few of the sealers which the Alaska monopoly is allowed to catch under its contract with this Government, the American and British poachers and pothunters have gathered a large harvest in Behring Sea in defiance of President Harrison's proclamation and of the revenue cutters sent to that inhospitable, much less profitable, fishing for seals in Behring Sea. In violation of President Harrison's proclamation have lost their season's catch; but their number and losses are small compared with the fleets that have arrived safely in port with their rich cargoes. Waterway men would be surprised to learn that the Alaska monopoly is allowed to catch under its contract with this Government, the American and British poachers and pothunters have gathered a large harvest in Behring Sea in defiance of President Harrison's proclamation and of the revenue cutters sent to that inhospitable, much less profitable, fishing for seals in Behring Sea. RAILROAD NEWS.

Rumors of Another Great Alliance—End of a Race War.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 28.—The Boston News Bureau says: The Union Pacific-Norfolk and Western traffic alliance may hasten the consummation of a yet greater railroad alliance between the C. & N. W., C. & N. E., and the Manitoba, west of Chicago, with the Pennsylvania Railroad system east of Chicago. President Hill of the Union Pacific, Minneapolis and Manitoba, has long been at work upon such a union, and the recent heavy buying of Manitoba and C. & N. E. by large banking interests in New York has been with this end in view. This will be a great step in the direction of three or four great railroad systems for the whole country.

Called a Truce.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 28.—The report that the Boston & Albany and Fitchburg roads have called a truce in their battle over West-bound rates is pronounced authentic on good authority. IDA FLORINE NEWCOMBE-LEDERER.
The Lady's Father Appointed Guardian Pending Legal Proceedings.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Ida Florine Newcombe-Lederer has had her father, Lawyer Richard N. Newcombe, appoint her guardian ad litem in order that she may bring suit for the annulment of her marriage with Theatrical Manager George W. Lederer on the ground that he had a wife living when the ceremony was performed. In her petition she says that she is 18 years old; that she was married to Lederer at Dutchess, Long Island, on the 10th inst., believing him to be single. On information and belief she alleges that on October 25, 1935, at Buffalo, Lederer was married to Clara Burns or Chester, and has since lived with her in the marital relation. She also states that further than participating in a marriage ceremony at Dutchess, she has entered upon no marital relations whatever with Lederer. The order appointing Mr. Newcombe guardian was granted by Judge Andrews.

Duck Shooting.

At this season of the year one of the most pleasing sports is duck shooting, and the banks of the Mississippi River afford the lovers of this sport the greatest facilities. Those who enjoy this pastime should call at the office of the "Burlington Route," St. L., K. & N.W. R. R., and obtain information as to the points on the river where the best shooting is offered. They have arranged for low rates to different points where the ducks are the thickest. At least 200 miles of their line runs along the river where the sportsman can indulge in this most exciting of sports. This road also runs solid through trains of free chair cars and Pullman sleepers to St. Joseph and Denver and through sleepers and free chair cars to Kansas City. Solid through trains to St. Paul and Minneapolis.

By application to the ticket office at No. 113 North Fourth street, any and all information will be given to parties regarding the Burlington Route.

The factory was built last spring at a total cost of $40,000 and was the first of the kind to be erected in Southwest Missouri. There was a large quantity of ammonia in the building, which exploded shaking the buildings for several hundred yards around, almost like an earthquake. There was $5,000 worth of ice in the factory complete. The origin of the fire is unknown.

THE BURGLAR TRIUMPHS.

MR. GUS THOMAS' PLAY SCORES AN UNQUALIFIED SUCCESS.

Both the Drama and the Company Given Cordial Approval at the Olympic-Farce Comedy, Melodrama and Variety at the Other Theaters. The Postponement of Nat Goodwin's Appearance at Pope's.

Mr. Gus Thomas, the author of "The Burglar," has every reason to be satisfied with the reception of his comedy drama in his native city.

The initial performance at the Olympic last evening was attended by one of the largest opening audiences of the season, and by popular approval as spontaneous and sincere as it was enthusiastic. All who went to the theater out of regard for the author stayed to the fall of the curtain out of regard for the play. It scored an unqualified success. The author was called before the curtain after the second act, and the members of the company shared with him in the enthusiastic appreciation of the audience.

Mr. Thomas' success is not measured solely by popular approval. It reaches beyond that to a high point of artistic excellence. The touch of the artist is manifest in his work. It combines simplicity, naturalness, suggestiveness, with quiet effectiveness and forceful fundamental elements of true art. With strong temptation to use them, Mr. Thomas has avoided melodrama and superficial display to gain effects. He depends upon the natural development of the action of the play and the elements in human nature and human life which touch the springs of emotion. He deals with crime and the repulsive phases of life which enter into the plot of the play with a refinement and delicacy which is distinctly charming. The play is a masterpiece of the art of the dramatist, and it is a masterpiece of the art of the actor.

The one-act sketch out of which "The Burglar" was developed was strongly fanciful and dealt with an episode which one recognized as improbable. To take the daily life of a burglar and make it a play was a difficult task, but Mr. Thomas has accomplished it with skill and intelligence. The plot is developed simply and directly, with such cleverness of construction and of dialogue that its improbabilities are fairly won.

The action gradually culminates with growing strength to the end. One excellent feature of the play is the absence of distinctly explanatory scenes. The story is told in the running dialogue and action.

The cast was admirable in nearly all respects. Mr. Thomas is not as good an actor as a dramatist, but the part of John Hamilton was intelligently handled by him. A. S. Lipman, as the burglar, gave a fine and forceful performance. It was an admirable piece of work and was a very effective study in strength with a grace and delicacy which was a masterpiece of the art of the actor.

The People's had a large opening house for Alden Benedict in his play, "The People's Choice." The production is one of the best with which Mr. Benedict has ever been connected. It is a masterpiece of the art of the dramatist, and it is a masterpiece of the art of the actor. The play is a masterpiece of the art of the dramatist, and it is a masterpiece of the art of the actor.

Robert Lee Grant's Battle for Life During Five Days and Nights—His Companions Lost in the Deep—A Terrible Disaster—Solms, Ala.—Frightful Electric Light Wire Exhibition—Casualties.
NORFOLK, Va., Oct. 28.—The picked life-saving crew from stations Nos. 4, 5 and 6 succeeded this morning in rescuing the only surviving member of the crew of the schooner George T. Simmons of Camden, N. J., wrecked last Wednesday near Cape Caze. Of the five members of the crew who lashed themselves in the rigging when the vessel went into the breakers, Robert Lee Grant was the only one who had endurance enough to hold out during four nights and three days and most of the time under a terrific storm and tremendous breakers. One by one his four comrades became exhausted and dropped into the sea. When relief came Grant was almost ready to follow his fellow seamen, for he was worn out from his long and terrible struggle for life. After he was taken ashore, Grant recovered rapidly and is well.

ANSWERS TASCOTT'S DESCRIPTION.
The Prisoner in Philadelphia Supposed to Be the Fugitive.
PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Oct. 28.—The detective authorities of this city are anxiously awaiting a telegram from Chicago as to the identity of the mysterious prisoner now held for forgery, but who is believed to be Willie Tascott, the supposed murderer of Millionaire Snell. Three photographs of the prisoner were sent yesterday noon, and unless there is a delay to the mails the suspense will be ended before midnight to-night. The detectives are still confident that they have Tascott in their clutches, and the circumstances surrounding the man favor this idea. The prisoner passed the night quietly, a doctor reporting that he slept all night. This morning he was more quiet than usual. A lumber merchant who says he has been in relations with Tascott's father some five or six years ago in Chicago, and occasionally saw the son around the store, called at the Central Station to-day and took a look at the prisoner. He says he thinks the man resembles Willie, but owing to the number of years that have elapsed since he last saw the boy he was unable to positively identify him. Dr. Andrews, Chief of the Board of Police Surgeons, made an examination of the scars on the prisoner's person this afternoon, and an Associated Press reporter representative was allowed to be present. The wound in the right hip, which the prisoner declares he received in a railroad accident, the doctor says was undoubtedly caused by a rifle ball. The scars below this wound came from bad treatment of the bullet breeding. At the night quietly, a doctor reporting that he slept all night. This morning he was more quiet than usual.
